CHEYENNE, Wyoming, November 12.—(Special to The Advertiser)—

Flashing into riot at a challenge and a dare, nearly one hundred members of Battery B and D, Fourth Field Artillery, U. S. A., clashed in a melee in the streets here last night, spread terror through the town and drew a guard from Fort D. A. Russell on a summons from Mayor Bresnahan, who had already ordered the chief of police to wear in a hundred additional policemen and arrest both batteries.

Lieutenants Quinn and McBride arrived in time to reinforce the hard-pressed police and arrested fifty soldiers.

As a result of the riot, Privates E. Silanesky and S. S. Martin were seriously injured.

A feud of long standing between the two batteries had flared. Last night in the presence of a number of both batteries, a trooper of Battery B shouted that he was "a better man" than any member of Battery D. The fight that started spread through the streets and revolvers were drawn and fired by some of the troopers. The majority, however, used their weapons as clubs.

Cannot Reach Agreement.

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.)

LONDON, November 12.—(Special to The Advertiser)—The deadlock in the international political situation, brought about by the Balkan States' war, continues. Neither Austria-Hungary nor Serbia has given way on a single essential point in regard to the future of Albania, and the proposed occupation by the Servians of a port on the Adriatic sea.

The Russian newspapers are daily intensifying the warlike tone of their support of the Servian cause.

Some European chancelleries took a more optimistic view today of the condition of affairs, assuming that yesterday's conference between the Austrian and Servian statesmen in Budapest have tended to relieve the crisis. The great European Powers not directly interested in the outcome are making strong efforts to reconcile the two antagonistic countries.

It is believed that Germany has at last induced Austria-Hungary not to press her objections to Servia's aims until the end of the campaign. Germany has pointed out that the whole question of the Balkan Mountain States' troubles can then be settled by a European conference in which the Balkan nations should have a voice.

When Archduke Francis Ferdinand, the heir to the Austrian crown, meets the German Emperor very shortly, the conference will be drawn up in outline. This view coincides with that of Great Britain, as Premier Asquith explained in his speech on Saturday.

The authorities in Vienna take pains to point out that the military conference being held in Budapest are not incongruous with Austria's desire for peace. They explain that plans and precautionary measures have been considered, but they say they will not be carried out unless Servia should violate Austrian interests.

There has been some talk of a naval demonstration on the Adriatic coast when the Servians reach there, but the carrying out of this depends on the course of events.

Heavy Losses in Battle.

(By Associated Press Cable.)—Official returns of the killed and wounded in the recent fighting near Perlepe show that the Servians lost 3000, and the Turks more than 8000. RACE SUICIDE AMONG COLLEGE-BRED WIVES

PHILADELPHIA, October 27.—The authorities at Bryn Mawr, one of the exclusive women's colleges of the country, recently completed a statistical table, based on answers received from graduates who have married. The results would indicate that the higher education of women leads to rapid race suicide. The statistics were not collected for this purpose, but rather for the information of the alumni of the college.

The statistics take in the classes from 1860 to 1911. In the twenty years of the exclusive women's colleges, and of those 361 answered the questions asked by the college. Of these 127 had children.

The remarkably part of the report is that which shows the decrease in the average number of children in the family. The high point was reached in 1868 and 1869, when the children averaged four to the family of graduates. From that the percentage has dropped, until 1910 when it averaged only three to the family of graduates.

In twenty out of every hundred graduates have been the mothers of six children, of which 25 were boys and 15 girls.

The King's consent has been asked to summon further classes of reserves to the colors.

It would appear from the Greek comments that no portioning of the conquered territory was arranged before the war, and it is asserted that each belligerent is endeavoring to occupy as much territory as possible, with an eye to the final division of the spoils.
